BETHEL COLLEGE MENNONITE CHURCH

May — June 2019 13:3

Pastor's Corner with Susan Wheeler

I have been reviewing and reminiscing as I think about the nearly nine years of pastoral care work that I have been privileged to offer among you all at Bethel College Mennonite Church. It became apparent to me that it has been all about, "the life-giving task of making connections," a quote of Paul Tournier I used at my first introduction to the congregation. These connections have deeply enriched my life and will become a legacy I will cherish.

As I reviewed my files in preparation for sharing with the Sojourner's Sunday School class, I thought about all the people I have visited; shared intimate times of illness, and walked alongside in vigil. There are the families who have surrounded loved ones and assisted us in preparing and hosting worshipful, loving, tributes and meaningful memorials. I have enjoyed 80th birthday interviews, Women's Fellowship circle meetings, Western District Conference meetings, attending the Mennonite Church USA conference in Orlando, FL with Dawn Yoder Harms. I will sorely miss seeing our BCMC staff each week with all of our different roles and life situations. The list goes on! I have found these years full of richness, as well, because of Sunday mornings when I was leading worship - but maybe even more so when participating and taking it all in from the pew. I have found life-giving the quality of music and choice of songs, the theological emphasis of open inclusion, our worshiping the God of love with joy and hope while naming cultural and community struggles as well as controversial topics. Much I have loved and will miss as my husband, Lee, and I are making adjustments to my retirement. My prayer is for God to guide this congregation as you welcome new staff, face the many challenges of this present day, and continue to seek God's will and grace in everything.

From BCMC:

We will miss you Pastor Susan and wish you joy in your retirement!

Welcome to Renee Reimer, the new Associate Pastor for Faith Formation

Renee Reimer, Elkhart, Indiana, has accepted BCMC's call to become Associate Pastor for Faith Formation, starting August 5. Renee received an MDiv degree with an emphasis in faith formation from Anabaptist Mennonite Biblical Seminary (AMBS) on May 4.

After the Search Committee conducted a "quiet visit" with Renee in Wichita on March 2, the Church Board affirmed the committee's recommendation that she candidate for the position, which was announced to the congregation on March 17.

Renee was in North Newton April 5-7. She spent time with pastor Dawn Yoder Harms; visited over meals with the Search Committee, Church Board, Faith Formation Commission, Agape Class (young adults) and senior high youth and sponsors; and met with Bethel College campus pastor Peter Goerzen and several students. At five, hour-long sessions with Renee, 83 people shared what originally brought them to BCMC, what they appreciated about their Sunday school classes and the church as a whole, and how they viewed faith formation across the age spectrum. On Sunday, Renee gave the sermon during worship, and shared her faith journey and answered questions during the Christian education hour.

After worship on April 14, members voted 185-1 to invite Renee to become our next faith formation pastor. She wrote in response, "I was humbled by the vote of affirmation calling me to be your pastor this past Sunday, and I am pleased to accept your calling to walk with you as your pastor. The candidating weekend felt like a coming home to a church and a people that have been pivotal pieces of my faith journey. I am looking forward to where we continue to journey together come August."

Renee graduated from Bethel College with a bachelor's degree in music education in May 2014. From 2011 to 2014, she directed the BCMC junior choir, including engaging youth as well as children in the musical "Godspell Junior." She was the Worship and the Arts Symposium events coordinator while at Bethel, interim music coordinator at our church for a short time, and music director at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Newton.

Renee went on to serve as youth and outreach ministries director at Rainbow Mennonite Church, Kansas City, which solidified her interest in becoming a pastor. She also led music and taught at Village Presbyterian Preschool in Prairie Village, was the Vital Worship Grant project director at Rainbow, served as a camp pastor at Rocky Mountain Mennonite Camp, and has been chapel coordinator and assistant while at AMBS.

This summer Renee will assist with a Rocky Mountain Mennonite Camp session in June, coordinate the Mennonite Church USA convention Children's Program in Kansas City in early July, and help with junior high camp at Mennoscah in mid-July.

The Search Committee—Suzy Burch, Marlene Ewert, Carol Flickinger, Elizabeth Lamp, Dave Linscheid (chair), Austin Prouty, Dale Schrag and Dawn Yoder Harms—thanks everyone who participated in Renee's candidate weekend, supported the committee's work since June 2018, and prayed for both the committee and Renee along the way. ~ Dave Linscheid

From the Education and Service Scholarship Committee

As this school year draws to a close, the Education and Service Scholarship Committee wishes to share a brief update on our six yet-to-be-featured Bethel students. This group clearly takes advantages of the opportunities available at a small liberal arts college!

Angus Siemens, after receiving a Disaster Management Certificate from Hesston College, has transferred to Bethel, where he is pursuing Social Work as an academic discipline, but is also making his presence felt in the Music Department, and on the track (indoors and out), not to mention at Mojo's!

Sisters Elizabeth Tran (junior) and Laura Tran (sophomore), while certainly not interchangeable, have some parallel experiences. Both have been studying the natural sciences; both have enjoyed participating in the Steel Drum band; both had pieces in the recent Student Art Exhibit (photography and ceramics for Elizabeth; jewelry for Laura); both continue to be involved in Student Government; and both continue to serve our congregation as ushers on a regular basis.

Seniors Sarah Turner, Austin Prouty and Serena Wong are each busy completing their respective requirements for graduation, and are looking to the future with anticipation.

Sarah's involvement with the Student Activities Council, her study of business management, and her love of travel will all stand her in good stead as she ventures out -- to who knows where! -- and possibly pursues a career as an event planner. (If you need a good cake/cookie baker, Sarah, we might have a recommendation for you!)

Austin's work will be highlighted as a part of the Senior Art Exhibit in Regier Gallery, or may be seen at Kauffman Museum. He plans to be in Santa Clarita, CA, next year, to continue his studies at the California Institute of the Arts.

Serena just completed her 4th season on the Bethel Tennis team, also had a piece in the Student Art Exhibit, has been interning at a Newton business, and sends this message to the congregation: "I've had a wonderful time at Bethel College and it has prepared me for my long journey ahead which will start this summer in Wichita! I will pursue my Master's degree and work from there!"

Our congratulations and good wishes go to these students, and our three other Bethel graduates, Connor Born, Emily Kondziola, and Seth Larson. ~ Carol Flickinger for the ESSC

Editor's Note: Our congratulations also go out to our students graduating from Newton High School this year: Jonah Hodge, Christa Kondziola, Ignacy Kitlowski, Noah Massanari, Anjela Rodriguez, and Lulu Williams.

Ignacy Kitlowski at BCMC

This year, the Senior High Youth Group has been privileged to welcome Ignacy Kitlowski, a Greenheart exchange student from Wroclowe, Poland.

After hearing about a friend's experience in this exchange program, Ignacy decided to pursue it for himself. He was particularly interested in having an English language immersion experience and visiting the United States.

Ignacy connected with BCMC by happenstance. When his originally assigned host family needed to pull out of the exchange program at the last minute, he was hosted for six weeks by Marlene Faul, who brought him to BCMC for worship and introduced him to the youth group. Although Ignacy was eventually placed with another host family in Newton, he has continued his involvement with the BCMC youth group because he likes being with friends in the youth group.

Giving From Our Abundance

51st Annual Kansas Mennonite Relief Sale April 12 and 13, 2019

Throughout this school year Ignacy has been studying at Newton High School, alongside many BCMC youth. He has especially been enjoying Government and English classes. He will soon be traveling to Topeka for the National History Day state-level competition. His project is focused on the fall of the Soviet Union: what have been the consequences, and what might have improved the outcome?

Ignacy will complete two more years of high school after he returns to Poland at the end of this school year. After graduation, he hopes to enroll at the University of Edinburgh (Scotland) to study linguistics.

Ignacy loves learning languages. He is fluent in Polish, English, and Spanish, and is currently learning Japanese, German, and Italian. Other interests include photography and video and role play games.

Ignacy, thank you for being part of our youth group! You've added energy, interest, and global connection to our gatherings. We will miss you, even as we also know your parents, brother, and friends are waiting to welcome you home!
~ Dawn Yoder Harms

Ignacy Facts:

- Family: Mom, Dad, brother four years younger
- Appreciates the relationships he has built here.
- Attended Snow Camp with the BCMC Senior High Youth Group
- Biggest surprise: this area is car dependent; can't get around by public transportation. In Poland, public transport is free for anyone under the age of 21

It is impossible for me to think about the MCC relief sale without thinking of hymns and spiritual songs. In my mind and in my soul, the coming together of the 70 odd anabaptist congregations and supporting groups as they serve the Lord is an act of Christian love, Christian identity and Christian service. The entire week from set up to take down is an act of worship. "Great is thy Faithfulness".

This year was not without its bumps and challenges. Indeed there was plenty of opportunity for us to engage in prayer and join together in one voice for the benefit of MCC and helping those less fortunate...acting out of our own abundance, and our desire to serve God.

We had some key volunteer spots to fill. It was not always clear where we were going and who was going to fill those spots. But volunteers stepped up. Groups who have been on the periphery of the sale agreed to help cut and bake sausage on Saturday. The help and smiles of the Yoder Amish, combined with the humor and hard work of the Working Men of Christ produced the baked sausage at a rate that allowed them to get ahead and enjoy some of the rest of the sale. For volunteers seeking to serve God, we are thankful.

Another bump was the decision of the Kansas Department of Revenue to change the regulations concerning charging and remitting sales tax as it related to the Kansas Mennonite Relief Sale. A whole host of MCC's Angels contacted their congressmen and senators, and the decision was reversed, at least for one year. Young people, board members, booth chairmen, and an 80 year old lady, engaged their representatives and senators in conversations that put pressure on the Kansas Department of Revenue. I am not sure what the future holds at this point, but I know that we will have more time to deal with it before next year, and that we will have more opportunity to offer ourselves as servants of the Lord.

But bumps in the road also provide opportunity. Opportunity to raise money, opportunity to form community, opportunity for us to give from our abundance in so many ways. Our sole purpose is to raise money to donate to the Mennonite Central Committee....and we will do that. The initial tabulation from last weekend is $504,296... and we know there will be some additional monies that will continue to come in for the next month or so. The ability for a community to come together, thinking more of others than of themselves, is what makes it possible to raise over a half million dollars in 24 hours. And everyone who has contributed to the sale in any way gave from their abundance.

Thank you to the many people in this congregation who contributed in so many ways. Creating quilts that are works of art. Creating and donating crafts that will continue to please long after the sale is over. Helping to set up the quilts at the sale, baking bread, going to Hillsboro to make veronike, or to Moundridge to make bohne beroggi. Signing up to serve at the Feeding of the Multitude or to help with children's activities...all are examples of giving from our abundance.

Was the sale a success? Yes, in so many ways. But the biggest success is being able to provide health care, food, emergency relief, school opportunities, and empowerment to people around the world.

As Chairman, I am pleased to be part of an organization that seeks to do only good, to feed the hungry, to clothe the naked, and to help those who do not share our abundance. I thank you, BCMC, from the bottom of my heart.

I also thank you for the many prayers, words of support, and concern for my well being as I have struggled with illness as well as trying to stay a little bit involved in the sale. I needed to be involved, at least a little bit, for the sale is a grand and glorious way to serve the Lord.

Kansas Mennonite Relief Sale

Happy 80th Birthday Sue (Young) Penner! June 21, 2019

Sue grew up in Louisville, Ohio as the only girl with two older brothers. Sue was active in the youth group and played piano at the Evangelical United Brethren church her family attended. Because immersion was important her baptism took place in the local Church of the Brethren that had a baptistery. Mushroom hunting was a fun family activity, and she still wonders how her mother knew where and when to find these healthy, natural treats.

With a spirit of adventure, Sue followed an employment opportunity that took her to Colorado. She lived with a family who attended First Mennonite Church in Denver. How fortunate that a certain Kansas boy named Al Penner was part of the Voluntary Service unit there! Their relationship blossomed and led to marriage on May 30, 1958 at the Louisville Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Sue found the General Conference Mennonite church to her liking because they were not as conservative as the Mennonites she'd known in eastern Ohio—no bonnets for her! Al's influence also led her to Bethel College for studies. While Al finished his degree at Bethel, Sue worked as an accountant for Faith & Life Press and bookstore. When their family of three children was growing up, Sue continued her accounting practice from their home. Through this work that spans more than 50 years, she enjoyed contacts and relationships with many people. Being able to continue to use these skills in a volunteer capacity for a couple of charities gives her the opportunity to help a little—make a difference in others lives.

She enjoys attending activities of the seven grandchildren who live in Hesston, Kansas City; Goshen, Indiana; and Denver, Colorado. She is grateful for meaningful relationships with them and experiences them as attentive—keeping in touch with a telephone call or text. To encourage family life and interaction between the generations, she and Al developed a pond and family picnic, recreational area on farm land near Inman. Although the grandchildren are older now, they continue to share fun, outdoor activities with family and friends there.

Sue and Al celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary last year with a cruise up the St. Lawrence River to Halifax, Nova Scotia. Meeting new people, experiencing different activities and unusual vistas make travel enjoyable for Sue as she shares these with Al. Sue enjoys people and finds meaningful ways to connect and share her gifts in hospitality. I am especially grateful for her acts of kindness during my husband, Lou Gomez' brief illness and death last fall. Highlights of involvement at BCMC are the Open Circle Sunday school class and the pastors' sermons that hold her attention and provide food for thought. Her attitude of thankfulness that God has brought her to this 80th year shows in her gentle and genuine presence. With gratitude for her health as it is, "I'm going for 90," she says. We are blessed by Sue's ready smile and her kind and welcoming spirit. Thank you, Sue.

Happy 12th Birthday Lucy Burch!

Meaningful roots at home and curiosity about the wider world – both are present in Lucy Burch, who turns 12 on May 11. Her home at the eastern edge of North Newton is a creek-side haven for time with her family and close encounters with the natural world in the woods around her house. Lucy has a younger sister, Faith, and her mom and dad, Suzy and Brad. Lucy loves being a part of this family, appreciating the character of each one and the "safe" and loving unit they are together. Lucy treasures wandering in the woods along the deer trails. Their family has a remote camera that allows them to view the deer, a coyote, and the occasional human trespasser. The Burch household includes Skip, the thirteen-year-old dog, and six cats – two different sets of kittens and two cats that "came with the house."

In addition to a pet-lover, Lucy describes herself as friendly, loyal, curious and fun-loving. When asked if she thought of herself as a good friend, she quickly responded, "You will have to ask my friends!" Lucy carefully observes all that is around her. Asked what she would miss if she were to lose her eyesight, Lucy said it would be viewing people's expressions and the different looks her pets give her to communicate how they are feeling. If her hearing were lost, Lucy would miss music—all kinds of music. She loves playing piano, flute and plays bells in the Menno Ringer bell group here at BCMC. She enjoys being at church where she feels "safe and loved." In the sanctuary she senses being "in the presence of God." Junior Choir has meaning for her, where they actually sing "to God, or for God." Sunday School is important to Lucy as well. Her favorite parts of the Bible are when Jesus rose again, and the stories "when anyone gets healed."

Lucy will be exploring the wider world. She would love to visit Paris to follow up on her curiosity about the Eiffel Tower and all the other landmarks in that city.

Lucy would like to be a teacher when she grows up. She observed relatives and friend's relatives who teach and she has come to admire them. In Lucy's view, a teacher needs to be kind to students, and refrain from showing too much of the “sternish part” of their personality. Math is Lucy’s favorite part of school – also, reading and hanging out with friends.

The best part of being a kid, Lucy says, is not having to worry about “the making-money part” of life. When asked at what age a person becomes an adult, Lucy thought for a bit, then said, about 18 to 20 years old. “There is a maturity that changes about them.” With 6 to 8 years to go, Lucy is well on her way.

Thank you, Lucy, for helping us get to know you! We celebrate your presence as part of our congregation!

Happy 12th Birthday Mara Oswald!

Mara Oswald sees the world from a unique perspective. Happily, since she is turning 12 on May 25, she agreed to sit down and tell us about herself. Mara attends New Creation Fellowship Church but joins us here at BCMC for our Junior Choir.

Mara is the oldest of four children (Mara, Adam, Jude and Ruby) and her parents are Libby and Clark Oswald. Mara is a social person with a quick wit and fun smile.

She enjoys creating artistic things with her hands and her favorite color is a light aqua. Her family has just moved into a larger house so they are in the process of making their new house a home. Regarding family life in general, Mara observes that living in a family works best when everybody does their part. As the oldest child, she observes that it takes some commitment from each part of the family to really do this!

Mara enjoys team sports, volleyball and basketball, but is also curious about tennis. In music, she plays violin in orchestra, particularly intrigued by the hands-on sense of playing music. She enjoys vocal music as well. Mara values school, especially the connecting part of being with friends. She appreciates the teacher who will work with students, rather than simply telling them what to do.

While Mara enjoys people and activity, she is drawn to quiet, peaceful times as well. Music and the sounds of creation are where she feels moved in her own spirit. And, Mara has an active life of the mind. The photo of a black hole which was recently released captured Mara’s sharp and open imagination. Math is a favorite topic – she easily grasps the concepts.

This past summer her family traveled to Germany. Both her parents have connections there, so the family had an incredible time. Mara loved it all, but specifically mentioned the beauty of the landscape and the quality foods that are everywhere at hand. Mara loves to travel and is curious about other places in the world, like Zambia.

Mara muses about a future career in teaching or in the health profession. She is impressed by the work and service in children’s hospitals where help is found for children who have no control over their disability or disease.

Thank you, Mara, for your willingness to share!
We celebrate your presence among us!

Parking Issues

Places to park at BCMC – this has been a rising concern for some in the congregation. Various solutions have been attempted. On the heels of multiple conversations between “church and college,” BCMC’s Bethel College Relations Team (BCRT) is taking its turn at understanding and seeking to address the issue.

Knowing that Haury Hall (the dorm directly to the north of our church building) is a freshmen dorm, the college has given BCRT a spot to connect with incoming students at Bethel’s August freshman orientation. BCRT sees an opportunity here -- personal welcome and an in-person explanation about our parking needs in the life of our congregation.

One significant finding has been this: we here at Bethel College Mennonite Church have a range of feelings regarding this parking issue. Some in our congregation are weary that spots are continually filled, some in our congregation are personally in relationship with new Bethel students and see the issue more from the student’s point of view. Parking near their new “home” seems basic. Congregations in other locations do not have this parking issue, but wish for ways of interacting with Bethel students. We have a challenge and an opportunity.

Regardless of how this conversation unfolds, how we speak with our neighbors will be just as important as what solutions are decided upon. Let’s lift ourselves, Bethel College and its students in our prayers as we extend our hand in this ongoing sharing and negotiating of resources. ~ Susan Jantzen
